REPORT

OF THE

UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS.

To the Honourable W. J. Roche, M. D., M. P., Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my annual report upon the affairs of this Department for the year just ended* in the form of a brief review of the more important matters which have formed the subjects of the correspondence dealt with by the Department.

It will be convenient perhaps, to classify these matters under the headings of (1) Relations with Foreign Powers (2) Relations with other portions of the Empire.

(1) RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN POWERS.

NORTH ATLANTIC COAST FISHERIES ARBITRATION.

The decision of the Arbitration Tribunal upon the questions submitted to it with regard to the interpretation of the Treaty of 1818 conferring certain liberties on United States fishermen was pronounced at the Hague on the 7th September, 1910. The effect of the decision may be stated as follows:—

(1) The British contention that the liberty to take fish in territorial waters granted to United States fishermen by the Treaty of 1818 was subject to reasonable regulation by Great Britain without the consent of the United States, was sustained.

Provision was made by the convoking of the Commission of Experts for deciding the question raised by the United States as to the reasonableness of certain specified British regulations; but this matter was found to be susceptible of diplomatic settlement, and as a result of conferences between British and United States representatives held at Washington in January, 1911, the differences between the parties were adjusted.

(2) The right of inhabitants of the United States, while exercising their treaty liberties to employ as members of their fishing crews persons not inhabitants of the United States was established; but it was at the same time decided that such persons so employed derived no benefit or immunity from the treaty. Hence it would seem that such persons would be personally amenable to municipal laws restricting or prohibiting the exercise of fishing rights by them.

(3) It was held that the requirement that the United States fishing vessels should report was reasonable if reasonably convenient opportunity for such a report was afforded, but that they should not be subjected to the purely commercial formalities of report, entry and clearance at a custom house, nor to the payment of light, harbour or other duties not imposed on Newfoundland fishermen.

- (4) It was held that United States fishermen exercising their limited treaty right to enter bays and harbours for shelter, repairs, wood, or water could not be required to pay light, harbour or other dues or to enter or report at custom houses, though any fishermen so entering and remaining more than forty-eight hours might be required to report where reasonably convenient opportunity so to do was afforded.
- (5) It was decided that in measuring the "three marine miles of any of the coasts, bays, creeks or harbours" within which the United States had renounced the right to take, dry or cure fish the term 'bays' must be interpreted as applying to every bay on the coasts in question which might be reasonably supposed to have been considered as a bay by the negotiators of the Treaty, and that the three marine miles are to be measured from a straight line drawn across the body of water where it ceases to have the configuration and character of a bay. At other places the three marine miles are to be measured following the sinuosities of the coast.
- (6) The liberty of the inhabitants of the United States under the Treaty to take fish in the bays, harbours and creeks on the so-called treaty coasts which was denied by Great Britain was established by the Tribunal.
- (7) The right of United States fishing vessels resorting to the treaty coasts for the purpose of exercising their treaty liberties to have, when duly authorized, the commercial privileges accorded to United States trading vessels generally, was affirmed in so far as the Treaty of 1818 was concerned, but with the proviso that the treaty liberty of fishing and the commercial privileges should not be exercised concurrently.

Apart from their decision on the questions submitted, though in discharge of a duty imposed by the Special Agreement for the Arbitration, the Tribunal recommended for the adoption of the two Powers, rules and a method of procedure for the determination of all questions which might arise hereafter regarding the exercise of the Treaty liberties; they further recommended rules and a method for determining the limits of the bays along the treaty coasts from which the three marine miles were to be measured.

These recommendations are still under consideration.

PELAGIC SEALING. (BEHRING SEA).

In the course of the correspondence referred to in my last report the United States had pressed a suggestion, put forward some years ago, for an International Conference of Powers interested in the preservation of the fur- seal species, with the object of concerting the necessary measures to that end, and Canada had expressed willingness to take part in such a Conference; but intimated that she would not consent to any proposal for suspension of Pelagic Sealing unless satisfactory arrangements were made to compensate her for the abandonment of her right. This claim to compensation was admitted by the United States and as a preliminary to the proposed Conference a Treaty was concluded between Great Britain and the United States on the 7th February, 1911, whereby in consideration of the relinquishment by the former for a period of 15 years of her right of Pelagic Sealing in that part of the North Pacific and Behring Sea north of the 35° north latitude and east of the 180th meridian, she obtained a share of the land-take from the United States herd on the Pribilof Islands amounting to one-fifth of the gross take.

The coming into effect of this Treaty was conditional on the conclusion of an International agreement between Great Britain, the United States, Japan and Russia to prohibit to their respective subjects and citizens Pelagic Sealing in the area referred to.

The proposed International Conference including representatives of the Powers named was duly assembled at Washington in May last, the duty of representing Canada's interests at the Conference being entrusted to me. His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington, Mr. Bryce, and myself were the British representatives; Mr. Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labour, and Mr. Chandler P. Anderson represented the United States; Baron Uchida, the Japanese Ambassador at Washington, and Mr. H. Dauke, Japan; and Mr. P. Botkine, Russian Minister to Morocco, Mr. Brajnikoff, and Baron Nolde, Russia.

The meetings of the Conference continued through May and June until the 7th of July when a Treaty was finally concluded and signed by which it was agreed that Pelagic Sealing in the waters of the North Pacific Ocean north of the 30th parallel of north latitude and including the seas of Behring, Kamchatka, Okhotsk and Japan should be forbidden to the subjects and citizens of the four Powers during the life of the Treaty, which it is provided shall go into effect on the 15th December, 1911, and continue in force for a period of 15 years and thereafter until duly terminated by a year's written notice from any one or more Powers to all the others.

As compensation to Canada and to Japan for giving up a valuable right, the United States agrees to give to each an annual share amounting to 15% of the gross land take upon the United States rookeries and to make to each an advance payment as soon as the Treaty goes into effect of $200,000. Russia as a rookery owning power further agrees to deliver to Canada and to Japan annually 15% each of the gross yearly take on the Russian rookeries. Japan, the owner also of a rookery at Robben Island, agrees to deliver to Canada, to the United States and to Russia annually 10% each of the gross yearly take on the Japanese rookeries.

Great Britain also undertakes, in case any seal herd resorts to any islands or shores of the prohibited waters under her jurisdiction, to deliver annually during the term of the treaty to the United States, to Russia, and to Japan 10% each of the gross yearly take upon such islands or shores.

The provisions of the Treaty concluded between Great Britain and the United States of the 7th February, 1911, in so far as they are inconsistent with the later Treaty are superseded. The most important effect of this provision is to reduce the share of the United States land take to be paid to Canada from 20% to 15%.

PECUNIARY CLAIMS CONVENTION.

The agreement for the submission to arbitration of Pecuniary Claims outstanding between Great Britain and the United States referred to in my last report was signed on the 18th August, 1910. It provided for the constitution of an Arbitral Tribunal to which Pecuniary Claims agreed upon by the two Governments and arranged in schedules which have been approved by the United States Senate, shall be referred for decision. The time within which claims may be presented for settlement is limited to four months after the formal confirmation of the agreement which is to be made by an exchange of notes between the two Governments. The Agreement with a first schedule of claims thereunder and the Terms of Submission have been approved by the United States Senate.

TRADE RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES.

Further negotiations in regard to this matter were initiated by the visit to Ottawa in November, 1910, of Mr. Henry M. Hoyt, Counsellor, and Mr. Charles M. Pepper, Commercial Adviser of the United States State Department, who accompanied by Mr. J. G. Foster, the United States Counsul General at Ottawa, held conferences with the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Customs. These conferences were resumed at Washington in January, 1911, and as a result it was agreed that certain specified products should be reciprocally admitted into either country from the other free of duty, that other specified products should be reciprocally admitted at identical rates of duty, while further specified Canadian products were to be admitted into the United States at special rates of duty and specified United States products admitted into Canada at special rates of duty. The agreement was to be carried out by concurrent legislation. Such legislation has been duly enacted by the United States.

TRADE RELATIONS WITH JAPAN.

In January, 1911, Japan gave notice of her intention to terminate as from the 17th July, 1911, the Convention of the 31st January, 1906, regarding commercial relations between Canada and Japan. Her main Commercial Treaty with Great Britain, that of 1894, with the supplementary conventions of 1895 and 1900 had also been denounced so as to expire on the same date; and a new treaty with the Mother Country was in course of negotiation. Opportunity was afforded to Canada to adhere to such new treaty but it was not thought advisable to take advantage of this opportunity.

A temporary arrangement on behalf of Canada was concluded and recorded in notes exchanged between the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and the Japanese Ambassador on the 7th July, 1911, agreeing that the products of either country imported into the other should enjoy most-favoured-nation treatment for a period of two years from the 17th July, 1911. An Act of the Canadian Parliament to give effect to this agreement was passed on the 19th May and brought into operation by Order in Council of the 13th July, 1911.

ALASKA BOUNDARY DEMARCATION.

Further progress was made in the demarcation under the provisions of the Treaty of 1906 of the portion of the boundary between Canada and the United States constituted by the 141st meridian. The demarcation between Natazhat Ridge and the Yukon River was completed by 57 miles of vista cutting and 101 miles of monumenting. The line was further traced from the point about 40 miles north of the Yukon where operations ceased last year to a point 10 miles north of the crossing on the Porcupine River, the customary belt of triangulation being laid down, line cutting being carried out from the starting point for a distance northward of about 63 miles and monumenting for a distance of 45 miles to latitude 85° 55' North.

(2) RELATIONS WITH OTHER PORTIONS OF THE EMPIRE.

CANADA -WEST INDIES TRADE COMMISSION.

The Report of the Royal Commission appointed in 1909 to inquire into the question of trade relations between Canada and the West Indian Colonies was duly presented and published in August, 1910.

The Commission acknowledging the benefits which had accrued to the West Indian sugar industry from the preferential treatment accorded by the Canadian tariff considered that concessions should be made by the West Indian Colonies with a view to ensuring the continuance of such treatment. They expressed the opinion that the grant of a reciprocal preference was the only policy likely to be approved by the West Indian Colonies or by Canada; and submitted with their report a draft form of agreement to be entered into between Canada and the several West Indian Colonies with the object of giving effect to such a policy.

They further emphasized the importance of maintaining the steamship service between Canada and the West Indies and submitted recommendations for its improvement.

The recommendations of the Commissioners in regard to reciprocal preference have been accepted in principle by some nine of the West Indian Colonies; and the question of giving effect to them is now under consideration.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

In pursuance of the policy approved at the Imperial Conference of 1907 of holding such conferences every four years an Imperial Conference was convened and met at London in May, 1911. Representatives of the Imperial Government and of the Governments of Canada, of Australia, of New Zealand, of South Africa and of Newfoundland attended the Conference.

The principal subjects discussed were:

(a) Declaration of London.

(b) Navigation Laws.

(c) International Exhibitions.

(d) Uniformity of laws as to copyright, trade marks, patents and exclusion of aliens, &c.

(e) Naturalization.

(f) Naval-and Military Defence.

(g) Improvement of telegraphic communications within the Empire.

(h) All-red Mail route.

(i) Treaties.

(j) Imperial Court of Appeal.

Resolutions were adopted approving the ratification of the declaration of London, recommending a scheme of Imperial Naturalization and expressing the desirability of greater uniformity throughout the Empire in the laws regarding Copyright, Trade Marks, Patents, Exclusion of Aliens, &c. It was recommended that proposals laid before the Conference by His Majesty's Government for an Imperial Court of Appeal should be circulated to the several Dominions; and that a Royal Commission should be appointed to investigate and report upon the natural resources of the Empire and the means for the improvement of its trade.

It only remains for me to add that the staff of the department have continued to perform their duties to my satisfaction.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH POPE,

Under Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Ottawa, 31st October, 1911.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS, April, 1911.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING PASSPORTS.

Note.—Naturalized British subjects should bear in mind that their naturalization has no effect within the limits of the Foreign State to which they originally belonged, unless they have ceased to be subjects of that state, in the manner prescribed by the laws thereof, or in pursuance of a treaty or convention to that effect.

- 1. Applications for passports should be made in writing and enclosed in a cover addressed to "The Honorable the Secretary of State for External Affairs, Ottawa."
- 2. The charge for a passport, whatever number of persons may be named in it, is two dollars. The fee payable must accompany the application. Postage stamps will not be received as payment.
- 3. Passports are granted only to British born subjects or to persons naturalized in the Dominion of Canada. A married woman is deemed to be a subject of the state of which her husband is for the time being a subject.
- 4. Passports are not valid after five years from the date of issue. Fresh passports must then be obtained. When the party is a naturalized British subject he will be so designated in his passport.
- 5. Passports are granted to all persons either known to the Secretary of State or recommended to him by some person who is known to him; or upon the production of a declaration by the applicant, a blank form of which may be obtained at this Department, verified by a declaration made by any banking firm or by any mayor, magistrate, justice of the peace, minister of religion, physician, surgeon, solicitor, or notary resident in the Dominion of Canada. In certain cases, the applicant's certificate of birth must be produced in addition to the declaration.
- 6. If the applicant for a passport be a naturalized British subject, his certificate of naturalization must be forwarded to the Department of External Affairs with the declaration; and his certificate of naturalization will be returned with the passport to the person who has communicated with this Department in the applicant's behalf for delivery to the latter. A statutory declaration to the effect that the proposed visit abroad is of a temporary character—giving the probable duration of same—and that the applicant intends to return to Canada and reside here permanently, must accompany the application for a passport.
- 7. A passport cannot be issued by the Department of External Affairs on behalf of a person already abroad; such person should apply for one to the nearest British Mission or Consulate.
- 8. Travellers who may have any intention of visiting the Russian Empire, the Turkish Dominions, the Kingdom of Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Venezuela, Hayti, or Eritrea, at any time in the course of their travels, must first have their passports visés at the nearest Russian, Turkish, Roumanian, Persian, Colombian, Venezuelan, Haytian, or Italian Consulate as the case may be. For the information of travellers proceeding to any of these countries via Great Britain, it may be stated that the addresses in London of these consulates are respectively as follows:—The Russian Consulate-General, Windsor Chambers, 20 Great St. Helen's, E.C.; the Consulate-General of the Sublime Porte, 7 Union Court, Old Broad Street, E.C.; the Roumanian Consulate-General, 49 Parliament Street, S. W.; the Persian Consulate-General, 82 Victoria Street, S. W.; the Colombian Consulate-General, Friars House, New Broad Street, E. C.; the Venezuelan Consulate, Finsbury Pavement House, Finsbury Pavement, E. C.; the Haytian Consulate, 32 Fenchurch Street, E. C.; the Italian Consulate-General, (for Eritrea) 44 Finsbury Square, E. C. Passports may also be visés at any of the other Consulates of Russia, Turkey, Roumania, Persia, Colombia Venezuela, Hayti, or Italy in the United Kingdom. Travellers about to proceed to any other country need not obtain the visa of the Diplomatic or Consular Agents of such country.

N. B.—Although travellers are now free to enter most foreign countries without passports, colonial British subjects travelling abroad are recommended not to omit to provide themselves with passports, for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory, they are found to be useful as affording a ready means of identification in case of need. British subjects intending to reside in Germany or Switzerland should provide themselves with passports.
